JOHN GAHAGAN

John's passion for stamps began in childhood, inspired by his father, Ernest, who was a part-time stamp dealer in the 1950s. He spent his early years in Wellington and Wairoa before the family settled in Napier, where they established their family pharmacy business.

John's collecting interests centred on the early postal history of the Napier region and the New Zealand Full Face Queens (Chalon Heads). Over the years, he acquired significant pieces from the major international sales of John Woolfe, Joseph Hackmey, and many others. John exhibited his pre-stamp New Zealand mail at Royalpex 2017, winning the Marcel Stanley Trophy and a Vermeil medal. To the best of our knowledge, this was his only public exhibition, meaning the true extent of his collection has remained largely unknown—until now.

Many will be delighted and surprised, by the treasures offered in this sale. For serious collectors of FFQs and postal history, this represents a rare opportunity not to be missed.

A valued and active member of the Hawke's Bay Philatelic Society, John was a quiet achiever who took great pride and personal satisfaction in building his collection.

IAIN LUTON

Iain Luton was born in Wanstead, London, and vividly recalled the Second World War years, as his part of the city suffered heavy bombing.

With a strong desire to work in agriculture, Iain studied for two years at the Essex Institute of Agriculture, Writtle, earning an agricultural degree. During his practical internship in Suffolk, he met Anne—who would become his wife of 62 years—whose family farmed in the district. Iain and Anne decided to immigrate to New Zealand in the mid-1950s, where Iain became a herd tester in the Whangarei region.

Iain's love of stamps began at the age of six, when he inherited several 1d Blacks and 1d Reds from his father! Over the years, he developed a particular passion for early British stamps bearing his own initials in the corner letters. Notably, lot 786 contains more than 300 1d Blacks, of which 21 feature his initials. His collection also included around 50 IL-designated stamps—among them 1d Reds and matched pairs of black and red printings from the same plate.

A man of considerable knowledge in postal history, Iain frequently gave talks on the subject and was a regular at monthly Whangarei Philatelic Society meetings and stamp fairs. Our March 2026 auction will feature the balance of Iain's substantial collection of Great Britain.

1903 4d Lake Taupo Invert

- 1 U 1903 4d deep blue & deep brown Lake Taupo with centre inverted, on bluish Cowan paper. NZ over star wmk, p14, 2 partial circular date stamp strikes "Picton/2 MR 04". Insignificant tear at lower left margin. SG322c. CP E12cz. $250,000

Provenance: Ex. J. Dennet, Theodore Champion, Unknown, NZ Post.

Certificates: RPSNZ (2025) plus copies of RPSL (1931), FRIEDL (1980), BPA (1990).

The legendary 4d Lake Taupo Invert is New Zealand's rarest and most celebrated philatelic error. This iconic stamp features a dramatic inverted centre, the scenic depiction of Lake Taupo printed upside down within the frame, resulting from a remarkable printing mishap during the bicolour production.

The only example known, the stamp is the ultimate rarity in New Zealand's classic issues. This variety is listed as SG 322c in the Stanley Gibbons catalogue and widely regarded as New Zealand's most valuable stamp.

This unique stamp, New Zealand's most famous error, has only been publicly displayed a few times in New Zealand, including "Palmex" in 1982, and Te Papa 2005. Its existence was not known until 1930, when it was discovered in England by J Dennet, and certified by the Royal Philatelic Society of London. The positioning of the postmarks tends to obscure the fact that the centre is inverted, which may explain why so many years passed before the stamp was recognised for what it is. It was sold in 1931 by Plumridge & Co of London and purchased by Theodore Champion. No other example mint or used has ever been found. The stamp reappeared at auction in Paris (October 1980) and sold to a North American buyer. In 1993, it was offered in a Stanley Gibbons NZ auction, and subsequently John Mowbray arranged its sale to NZ Post. The stamp is the subject of an entire 10-page chapter in the "Encyclopaedia of Rare and Famous Stamps" by L Norman Williams. A copy is included with the lot.

A once in a generation opportunity to acquire the pinnacle of New Zealand philately.

The Ministry of Culture & Heritage has advised that the stamp may be exported if purchased by an overseas buyer.

There is a reserve of $225,000.
